

Mercurial
The altered state, where we belong
It senses truth and makes us strong
We burn the days on this spinning clock
A churning galaxy that lives to make us not

Fuel your will, that inner tide
It beckons you to make that stride
Beyond the space among the pawns
To immortality where all signals must belong

Tread the skies, no one will laugh at your demise
Mercury is what we all will bleed together
Singe your mind and curse the shackles on your lives
Mercury is what we all will bleed together

Come we have bonds to sever
They rip right through me

Be mindful of the setting sun
They torture truth when the night is long
And do not die on the ascent
They'll bury us and all we've meant

The Shield
A life in which you struggle
Is a gift to be had
The length is of no consequence
No refuge for the mad
Leave behind the bitterness
Soar beyond your dreams
Right into the wilderness

The wolves come in disguise
To shield your eyes from the sunrise
Learn to fail
It's the only right they'll ever give you

The facade that is your comfort
Is the drug you never see
Entrenched in their collectivism
Your affliction is need
Cut off all idealism
Strip away your pride
Join the ranks of the sanctified

The crazed come dressed in lies and shield your eyes from the sunrise
Learn betrayal
Cause it's all they'll ever give you

Learn betrayal
In this kingdom divine
Bend your will or we'll topple your tribe
Learn betrayal
Cause it's all they'll ever give us
Learn to fail when you're drowning in the weeds
Your addiction is everything
It's all they'll ever need

Boundless
Failed and blue
But stay with me and I will stand with you
The light is gone
But there's brightness everywhere

Without a home
A meaningful existence is our road
Their lives are gone
But their vibrance, everywhere

And when we're lost in time
It's a revival
But every wish we set aside is denial

A boundless truth
Speak to me and I won't lie to you
Become the dawn
And shine your beauty everywhere

And when we are lost in time
It's a revival
But every wish we set aside is denial

If I am left behind
This is my trial
But every time you say good bye
I will find you

Weathered World
Wear have you crossed to my people
When will you be strong
This tragedy isn't a sequel
The worse has yet to come

The suffering never ends in a weathered world
These lives can never mend
When all you have built has been shattered
In a weathered world

We ride on the backs of our equals
The castles ooze with blood
We mute the ways of our people
To enthrone faceless gods

Time is not our friend in a weathered world
A cancer forever spreads
Through everything that has mattered
In this weathered world

The Denialist
I've said goodbye
I've come to learn, I've come to learn it as true
This backwards ride
Leads us to die

The absurd dance
Pick from the litter, litter the world in return
With our children to whom we say

Bury my bones
Sit in this throne
Hell is your home
Riddled with clones

Spit into a world
Suffering in every degree
This family line is in decline

The irregular seas shape the nausea in me
Floating through a world where others decide if I'm free
Don't say its forever cause forever's been torturing me
If justice comes home I will seek my reprieve

I revere loneliness
Together we pollute the world with our desire
Love tricks our consciousness
And tells us we are near when we are so far

I have no willingness
I have no heart in this
I'm the denialist
Now reach inside emptiness

No Great Divide
Do you see the accursed spread?
Bedeviled by faith that keeps them from dead
Their lips cannot move without words I haven't already heard
Wolf you are and shepherd I'll always be

What I don't know
Is the crux of my soul

An infernal masquerade that feeds on our kind
Their comfort a curse, a brightness that blinds
Your love cannot move without earth, which hurls through this vast universe
Feel but don't kneel before the cosmic drive

What I don't know
Is the crux of my soul

I walk among the chosen
A breeze blows through my brain
We look for reason but it won't come
A noble beauty to which we belong
Hell nor heaven we are the chosen
Of that we can be sure

The Only Path
I entered the world and they said to me
Don't look into our lives
We're shadows on the wall, faceless for all time
But if I let the rays, seep into my eyes
The truth won't leave me blind

The struggles of the world are struggles that are mine
Unconscious collectives weave their webs around our lives
Their corrosive influence does its work in time
Sending every message, how think and fear
They'll be no comfort here

You swallowed the faith and it let you down
You went chasing your dreams now you're in the ground
But to race to your grave in a mind unbound
Is the only path to living proud

All lyrics by Daniel Costa, copyright 2008